Comment. At the end of November 1953, an estimated 40,000 runway mats were stored at Schoonhauser Dam airfield. This number of mats would be sufficient for the establishment of an auxiliary runway with a length of 800 meters and a width of 60 meters. [redacted] about 85 carloads with an undetermined number of runway mats were shipped to the east at the end of November 1953 and the beginning of January 1954. Therefore, it is not possible to estimate the number of mats still stored at the field from the information in this present report.
